Servia's Ruler in Full Coronation Robes Rides Horseback from Cathedral, Where He Had Been Invested with Power.

BELGRADE, Servia, Sept. 21.-Peter Karageorgevitch was crowned King of Servia to-day. There were no hostile demonstrations and no attempt to carry out the numerous threats which had been made against the new King's life. In the solemn ritual of the Greek Church and in the elaborate state procession which preceded and followed the coronation the tragedy of Servia's previous ruler found no echo.

Amid the thunder of the saluting guns from the royal palace and the garrison King Alexander's murder was at least outwardly forgotten. Here and in every garrison town of Servia the dawn of day was marked by a salute of twenty-one guns, and shortly after daylight King Peter, on horseback, rode out from the Palace The brilliant procession then started for the Cathedral through the trooplined streets.

Puts on the Crown.

Behind the soldiers were packed dense crowds who, in spite of the rainy weath. er, stood patiently waiting to see the King. The royal heralds, cavalry a: Life Guards (the heralds bearing royal standards) and carriages with the Montenegrin and Servian princesses preceded the monarch.

Beside King Peter rode his two sons, George and Alexander. The Cathedral was reached shortly after 8 o'clock. There the representatives of the foreign powers, the Cabinet Ministers and others had already been waiting for some

As King Peter entered the Metropolitan consecrated him and more artillery salutes were fired. The King then took up his position under a canopy, and the Metropolitan, assisted by many bishops and other clergy, commenced the solemn service, the choir singing "Thank Thee Our Lord." After the prayer the Premter and other ministers handed the garments. An artillery salute of 101 guns then announced to the people of Belgrade that King Peter had been crowned. It was nearly three hours before the service was concluded and the ritual of the Church complied with. King Peter afterward signed the coronation document, which was witnessed by the Metropolitan, the Premier, the Cabinet Ministers and the other heads of State

Wearing the crown on his head and fully robed, the King left the cathedral, remounted his horse and rode through the crowded streets to the palace. There in the grand festal hall King Peter received the congratulations of the diplomatic corps and others, ascended the royal throne and once more took the sceptre and orb in his hands. The ceremony of tendering homage was
